

Maxim Wins D.R. Horton's Manufacturer of the Year

In the latest D.R. Horton vendor show, Maxim demonstrated itself to be a leading force in the builder community. With a consistent track record of efficiency, adaptability and unwavering reliability, there is no wonder why D.R. Horton, America's largest builder, has announced Maxim as their Manufacturer of the Year.

While the building industry as a whole has struggled with receiving supplies on time, Maxim has not only endured these obstacles, but thrived despite them, ensuring all distributors have plentiful supplies without delay.

Of the relationship with D.R. Horton, Maxim's Builder Division Director of Sales, Daniel Roizman, has said: "Maxim's longstanding relationship with D.R. Horton extends from its leadership team all the way to each and every division purchasing manager. Everyone here at Maxim understands that performance and consistency are key to maintaining this partnership, we will never take it for granted."
