Studio M Announces Next Designer Collaboration

Studio M's eye for visionary talent continues with their latest designer collaboration, César Giraldo. Curated for and housed in a 20,000 square foot picture of luxury in the Bel Air hills, the Gusto collection is a futuristic take on the brilliant transitions brought on by the dawn of sunrise and golden hour of sunset.

César discovered his deep love for color and form as a child which remain the foundational elements of his design work today. An accomplished furniture and product designer, César's most recent collaborations include a rug collection for Mehraban Rugs, and a luxury leather collection for LeBravo.

The Gusto takes inspiration from César's longtime fascination with the power of light and modern architecture. The design evokes an artisanal ambiance with sleekly defined curves of hand-blown glass that refract the dedicated LED lighting and highlight the undulant silhouettes throughout the fixture.

"When I was born, light was my first point of contact; light became my first curiosity; a fascination kept alive by the changes that sunrise and sunset presented in my surroundings, separating day from night."

Studio M's avant-garde interpretation of classical forms, along with César's own poetic design approach, have created a modern masterpiece of free-flowing geometric shapes. Due out this summer, The Gusto will be on sale exclusively from Studio M distributors.
